SIXINCH® North America announces new director of sales

Designer and developer Josh Sweazy joins growing furniture development team

GOSHEN, IND. - SIXINCH® North America, a global leader in furniture design and manufacturing, today announced the appointment of Josh Sweazy as Director of Sales. Sweazy will be responsible for sales team leadership, driving revenue and will also contribute to marketing and business strategy.

Sweazy brings more than 15 years experience in the design business to his new position at SIXINCH, including executive sales and business development roles at both startups and larger enterprise organizations.

“We are very excited about Josh's plans for our sales and marketing,” said Kip Wieland, President and CEO of SIXINCH North America. “Josh has a history building sales and service organizations and delivering results. He is a driven professional capable of identifying design trends and building relationships in the ‘A and D’ community.”

About SIXINCH North America

Founded in Belgium in 2003 by Pieter Jamart and Michel Sels, SIXINCH was born from a passion for innovative materials and progressive design. In 2013, Peter and Michel partnered with U.S.-based Wieland Designs, a well-respected company in the furniture industry, and expanded the footprint for one of the most talked about furniture brands in the world. The name SIXINCH comes from the space between our ears, a mere 150 mm wide, or six inches. Learn more at sixinch.us.
